HARRISBURG, Dec. 19.—

A Republican-controlled senate that blocked old age pensions during the regular 1933 general assembly session gave overwhelming approval to the two Blumberg old age assistance bills without debate this afternoon.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 19.—Planked by income tax, public works and liquor tax amendment bills, the prolonged controversy over old age pensions came up for a final decision in the legislature today amid the eleventh-hour crush before expected adjournment Thursday.

The scene is laid in the senate, composed of the same membership which last spring refused to permit a constitutional amendment legalizing old age pensions to come up for referendum. The two Blumberg bills are to be voted upon finally.

Both measures must go back to the house, if passed, for concurrence by the lower body in amendments which delay the effective date of the legislation until December 1, 1934, and cut the appropriation from liquor funds from $8,000,000 to $6,000,000 for the first year.

May Be Approved
Indications point to approval today in the senate and quick concurrence by the house in amendments, thus ending for the time being, at least, a perennial legislative question in Pennsylvania since the days before the world war during the incumbency of Socialist James J. Maurer as a representative.

The bills, sponsored by Rep. Arnold J. Blumberg, Philadelphia, for Gov. Gifford Pinchot, provide a maximum payment of $30 monthly to the head of a family without means of support who is more than Postoffice business is increasing today as local mailing is gaining impetus. Cards and parcels should be mailed now, even if only for local delivery. The postoffice will be closed Sunday and Monday, and no deliveries will be made on these days.

She goes to work too early in the morning to do it, finds the store clerks too busy at noon, works until five o'clock, then has to get supper for her husband, and she says that it takes from 7:00 to 9:00 o'clock each evening to persuade her two year old that it is a good idea to go to bed.

CIVIL WORKS PAYROLLS NOW $50,000,000 WEEKLY

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Civil works pay-rolls had jumped to $50,000,000 per week today, as figures were announced by Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, showing the rapid shift from relief rolls to civil works jobs.

Of 1,569,335 cases receiving unemployment relief in 119 cities in November, when the civil works program was launched, 28 per cent, or 447,210 cases were transferred to civil works employment during that month.

There are 4,000,000 on the CWA pay-rolls now, but Hopkins pointed to the rise in relief activities just prior to this development.

He declined to indicate what would become of the request of the mayors' conference that the CWA quotas be doubled.

Answering criticisms which have been directed at the proposed construction of a new county court house and high level viaduct, that such improvements would greatly increase the present rate of taxation, County Solicitor John P. Lockhart, in an address before the New Castle Rotary club, yesterday, stated that these assumptions are false, and that these improvements can be made without increasing the present indebtedness one penny.

His address was deeply appreciated by the members of the Rotary club, and from the attitude of those who heard him, it is believed a great amount of criticism which has been directed at these two improvements, can be answered through his explanation.

In part Attorney Lockhart said: "There has been a great amount of loose thinking and wrong construction placed upon the construction of a new county court house."

School Superintendent J. H. Miser, directing CWA projects, charged he and his family had been "run out" of the county by "an unruly mob."

C. C. Menzler, state administrator, Nashville, promptly withdrew CWA funds when Miser left.

Menzler said this was the first instance in the nation in which it was necessary "to withdraw CWA support from a county."

One of New Castle's landmarks is on its way to oblivion today. Workmen of the civil works administration began tearing down the Martin Gantz school on North Jefferson street early today and in a short time the pioneer educational building of New Castle and Lawrence county will be but a memory.

As the sound of the hammer and pinch bar began to echo in Jefferson street this morning an old gentleman stood on the sidewalk watching the work. Rather regretfully it seemed. For him the razing of the old building meant parting with a friend that started life the same year he did, 1851. The old gentleman was Scott McCleary, who was born the same year the Martin Gantz building was built.

Old As County.

The old school is almost as old as Lawrence county. The county was organized in 1849, and two years later the school building was erected. There appears to be no corner stone in the building but what would make a good corner stone is in the front wall of the second story line. This may contain papers or it may not but this stone is going to be lifted out carefully and saved for the New Castle school district.

The association reported that in practically every city in the country Christmas buying is going on at "an accelerated and highly encouraging pace."

The average increase reported by the stores was 18 per cent. Pittsburgh stores reported increases ranging from 20 to 34 per cent.

Several Philadelphia stores reported 5 to 10 per cent increases.

As the Topa Topa proceeded up the Thames, Captain J. Marcussen requested fire boats which, after a five-hour battle, extinguished the flames.

LINDBERGH'S ON LAST HOP HOME

Cooper river at the Charleston navy yard at 8:40 a. m. E. S. T.

His next stop was expected to be New York, where it was understood Lindy planned to land sometime this afternoon at the airport at North Beach, Long Island.

Anne waved as the ship took the air and the crowd of civilian employees and enlisted seamen who had gathered on the docks cheered.

The plane quickly disappeared in the low hanging clouds.

Unnoticed from the moment he left Miami yesterday morning, Lindy unexpectedly plunked his ship down on the river at the navy yard at 2:30 p. m. to make his "Pop" call on the admiral.

While he had not even indicated to officials of the Pan-American Airways, for which he made the lengthy aerial survey of possible commercial air lines across the North and South Atlantic, what his destination might be when he left Miami, it was believed he and Anne would fly straight through to New York to rejoin their son.

CLEVELAND YOUTH FIRES FATAL SHOT TO PROTECT GIRL

and became angered when Young met his questions with cool replies and refused to explain their presence there.

"He (Metling) came up to our car and turned a flashlight he was carrying on Miss Beiter and myself," Young said in a statement to Mayor A. W. Simonson, of Pepper Pike. "Then he opened the door and demanded to know why we were parked without lights."

The college student asked the man to display a badge of authority and show his right to question them.

Grabbed Young Lady.
"Before we had a chance to say anything further, he grabbed Miss Beiter and started to drag her from the seat," the congressman's nephew continued. "While she was scuffling at his face and trying to keep from being 'pulled out of the car, I grabbed the automatic in the pocket of the car."

"I told him to stop or I would shoot. He didn't stop."

Mayor Simonson said that preliminary investigation tended to show that the youth was fully justified in firing the shot. Metling, he stated, had no official status in the village and had no right to question parked motorists.

Miss Beiter corroborated Young's story of the shooting in every detail.

Reports Shooting.
After firing the fatal shot, Young drove to Shaker Heights police station to report the shooting. It was in Pepper Pike Village however and officials of that town were summoned.

Young led officers to the scene of the encounter with Metling and the farmer's body was found crumpled at the roadside with his flashlight beside it. The bullet had pierced his left eye and he apparently had died instantly.

Young explained he had carried the gun, a .25 caliber automatic, in the pocket of the car in event of a holdup. He was detained while his statements were submitted to the county prosecutor's office but Mayor Simonson said he probably would be released.

Miss Beiter, in a hysterical condition, was allowed to go to the home of relatives here.

Held Under Bond.
Cleveland, Dec. 19.—Technical charges of manslaughter were filed this afternoon against Britton Young, 21, popular Western Reserve University law student and central figure in the killing of a farmer, Charles Metling in a lonely "Lovers' Lane" in suburban Pepper Pike Village.

Young, the nephew of Congressman Stephen Young, maintained in a formal statement to authorities that he had shot and killed the man because the latter attempted to molest Miss Ruth Beiter, a pretty co-ed, with whom Young had been parked in an automobile on the isolated road.

Released under $1,000 bond after waiving preliminary hearing, Young was greeted dramatically by Dr. J. B. Beiter, prominent Canton physician and father of the girl.

"My boy I want to congratulate you. You certainly showed great courage. Ruth and I will stand by you as long as you need us," Dr. Beiter said.

Donald Young, father of the lad and for four years prosecutor of Huron county, Ohio, joined in statements issued by Congressman Young, Dr. Beiter and Mayor A. W. Simonson, of Pepper Pike, who said that the farmer had attempted to attack the girl.

Woman's Club Has Program In Song And Picture Monday

Gorgeous red poinsettias against a background of spruce trees formed a pretty setting for the Woman's Club Christmas program Monday afternoon in the auditorium of the Highland United Presbyterian church.

Mrs. E. F. G. Harper presided at the opening and welcomed the members and guests after which Mrs. Paul Welsh presented the musical part of the program. As Mrs. Jay L. Reed played the professional "O Come All Ye Faithful" the members of the Junior choir of the Highland church, in their black robes with white collars, each carrying a lighted Christmas candle, entered from the back of the church and marched down the aisle, taking their places in the choir loft and pulpit of the church.

Under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Gormley Smith, the group of fifty voices, sang "O Little Town of Bethlehem"; "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing"; "We Three Kings of Orient Are" with David Ferguson, Richard Ballentine and Donald Ferguson taking the solo parts; "Christmas Comes Again," closing with "Good Night" and "Christmas Prayer." As they filed out of the loft, Reed played "March of the Magi" by Harker.

Mrs. Archibald Davis then introduced the speaker of the afternoon, saying in her introductory speech that the Woman's club had decided this year to make the program of spiritual significance, and with this in mind had asked Van Wormer Walsh of Cincinnati, Ohio, to speak, using as his topic "The Holy Land," giving a graphic history and story of the Bible, with its background, Palestine, as it was in the days of the Bible, and as it is today. The marvels of beauty in this country were brought out in the slides shown, which had been taken by Mr. Walsh on his trip through Palestine. He gave a logical, sympathetic, understanding and reverent talk, bringing his discourse up to the Christmas story and the birth of the Christ as a fitting climax to a program suitable for this time of the year.

Mr. Walsh interprets his unusual experience with ability, eloquence and magnetism, thrilling his audiences from the time he steps upon the platform until the last word of his talk.

The January 8 meeting of the Woman's Club will be under the auspices of the Department of International Relationship, Mrs. Ray Tannehill, chairman, and the speaker will be Dr. Alden G. Alley.

SHENANGO CHAPTER ANNUAL YULE PARTY

Last evening members of Shenango chapter No. 333, Order of the Eastern Star, entertained at their annual Christmas party for families in the Cathedral. The occasion was featured with the singing of super from 5:30 to 7 o'clock in the dining room at tables decorated with the Yuletide season. Chairman Mrs. Estella Weddell and committee were in charge of this part of the program and dining room arrangements were efficiently presided over by Mrs. Helen Ramsey and aides. When this had been concluded, the guests adjourned to the east lodge room where an unusually interesting bazaar was displayed for the guests' pleasure under the chairmanship of Mrs. Anna Rowland, assisted by Mrs. Celia Wolford and her committee.

The evening was not yet complete, however, as there was a program of entertainment in charge of Miss Eve Smith to be presented. The kiddies of Highland school participated in this feature, giving a Christmas drill and play entitled "Santa's Visit to the Orphanage" with special skills being given at intervals. A reading "The Origin of the Poinsettia" was told by Janet Hartland; "The Day After Christmas" was cleverly given by Eula Jane Johnston and a group of pleasing Christmas carols were sung by Andrew DiLorenzo, each performer being well received. About a huge Christmas tree brilliantly lighted, Old Saint Nick, with the assistance of Mrs. Belva Bridenbaugh, worthy matron, gave the youngsters their annual treat as they completed the grand march. Approximately a hundred shared in this.

The dinner and bazaar events were in charge of the past matrons of the chapter.

CURRENT EVENTS '23 HOLD SEASONS EVENT

Mrs. R. W. Garraway proved herself a very charming hostess Monday afternoon to members of the Current Events of '23 when she opened her home on North Mercer street to them for their annual Christmas social event. The occasion was fittingly celebrated with the singing of Christmas carols lead by Mrs. M. R. Newbury, and following, stories appropriate to the season were told. Those taking part in this feature included Miss Eva Donaldson, Mrs. W. H. Shipley and Mrs. C. E. Miller, the latter who gave an interesting paper about Miss Helen Keller and her teacher, Mrs. Macy, who is now going blind and is being taught by her pupil whom she instructed since six years of age. The two are living in a secluded village in Scotland.

A delicious Christmas lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. C. F. Flannery at the close of the afternoon.

During the opening of the session with business transactions, reports of the various chairmen were given, showing excellent work accomplished by the club women.

Mrs. J. H. Templeton of Boyles avenue will receive members on January 15 at her home.

Stitch-A-Bit-Club
Mrs. Ernest King of Thorpe St., extended hospitality to members of the Stitch-A-Bit club in her home Tuesday evening, entertaining at an attractively arranged 6:30 o'clock dinner party. This marked their annual Christmas fete and after the serving by the hostess assisted by her mother Mrs. Amos Zeigler, Sr. the exchange of the seasons gifts occurred.

Cards whiled away the balance of the evening with prizes going to Susan Wallace and Helen McKibben. Mrs. Amos Zeigler Jr., was awarded the guest trophy.

The next meeting of the club falls on January 8 with Miss Gladys Gray of Adams street, hostess.

Rainbow Girls Stunt Party
Plans are in complete readiness for the unusual "Stunt Party" program to be staged by members of the Rainbow Order of Girls, Assembly No. 1 in the Cathedral on Wednesday evening. This is their Yuletide celebration that promises to be most attractive.

A business session at 7:30 o'clock will be followed by the stunts performed by the talented young ladies in the East Lodge room. At the conclusion of this feature, they will adjourn to the West dining room where they will be guests of the Advisory Board for the remainder of the evening. A surprise bit of entertainment is in store for them during this period.

N. R. A. Club Members
The N. R. A. Club will meet on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. William Lennig, 1110 E. Washington street.

THE SHEEP AND THE GOATS

WHAT to do with the nearly 4,000 persons now in federal prisons for violating the late prohibition law is a question facing government authorities.

A recent census gives the total of federal liquor law prisoners as 3,765.

Many of these are persons who never before had been in conflict with the law. There are others, however, whose records brand them as confirmed criminals—persons who have devoted the greater part of their lives to unlawful pursuits. To release these would probably mean that they soon would be preying on society in some new form.

It seems, therefore, that any amnesty plan decided on must take into consideration the fact that liquor prisoners are made up of two classes—those whose records are clean with exception of liquor law violations and those against whom there are other black marks. Care should be exercised that an army of gangsters and gunmen of a vicious type is not released when and if the prison doors are opened under a grant of amnesty to liquor law violators.

PRESERVING BATTLEFIELDS

Men of the civilian conservation corps are carrying on some good work on the historical landmarks of the United States. About 3,500 men are being used to rehabilitate several famous battlefields. Four camps are established at Yorktown, Va., where the American troops under Washington won the final battle of the Revolution in 1781. Two are at Morristown, N. J., an area used by the American armies every winter during the crucial years from 1775 to 1781.

About 400 men at work in the Gettysburg national military park in Pennsylvania, where Abraham Lincoln delivered his immortal address in 1863. Another 600 men are located at the Chickamauga and Chattanooga national parks in Georgia and Tennessee, which commemorates the scene of some of the brilliant maneuvers of the Civil War. A camp located at Shiloh, Tenn., marks the site of a memorable battle fought by the soldiers of the southwest in the same conflict. Another group of 400 is working on a project to preserve and develop the area in which the siege and defense of Vicksburg, Miss., were carried on. In Virginia 400 men are busy at Fredericksburg and Spotsylvania county battlefields. A group is working in the Petersburg national military park. There is an encampment at the Fort Harrison battlefield, a state park created to preserve the remains of fortifications occupied by both Federal and Confederate troops in the fighting around Richmond.

The government does not plan complete restoration in any of the areas, but it plans to restore them to such condition that the average visitor will come away with a clear understanding of the events that took place and their relation to the growth and development of the nation.

TWO ROMANCE MAKERS GONE

The almost simultaneous deaths of Louis Joseph Vance and Robert W. Chambers render the English-reading world much poorer by removing two of the most entertaining writers of America.

Vance, whose death was due to a shocking accident, was only 54. His tales of mystery and thrilling adventure are among the best of their kind.

Chambers was 68. At an age when he might have contemplated retirement he remained busily at work. His last story to be published in serial form, a tale of the American Civil War, was quite as exciting and quite as charmingly written as the Chambers' masterpieces of many years ago. Vance probably never considered himself a literary luminary, but the facility and grace of Chambers' style in such splendid works as "Cardigan" and "The Maid-at-Arms" gave the writer a distinct literary rating.

We need such men as Vance and Chambers. We have little enough romance in our lives nowadays. Two men who made romance, and who made it so admirably as to endow it with an almost universal appeal, did good and useful work.

BETTER HOPE FOR A MERRY CHRISTMAS

President Roosevelt is reported as greatly pleased over the progress of the nation toward a prosperity that has been just around the corner at every former year-end since 1929. New dealers and conservatives may disagree as to the causes, but there is no doubt that both the United States and much of the rest of the world are measurably better off than they were a year ago.

British bank reviews are full of statistics showing improvement in empire trade and industry. More convincing still from the British point of view, the number of marriages in England is increasing—sure sign that the subjects of King George view the future confidently. Germany reports a reduction in unemployment and an improvement in industrial output. Italy is optimistic. Canada has experienced an upturn that gained its real momentum after the turn of the year.

In the United States comparative statistics give eloquent testimony of a year of improvement. Unemployment has been reduced sharply. Steel ingot output is at higher per cent. The first flickering signs of revival in the construction of residences are discernible in the building-contract statistics. Wheat, corn, oats, rye, sugar, cotton, wool, hides, copper, lead and zinc are selling at from 50 to 100 per cent above their prices a year ago. Only hogs and cattle have lagged in the basic commodity upturn.

The depreciation of the dollar in foreign exchange has been reflected in an increase of goods moved for export. Domestic dollar sales of merchandise at retail are substantially ahead of those in the Christmas season last year, though the increase has not been quite sharp enough to keep factory production high. The increase in the number of automobiles sold is impressive, even though the improvement has been confined almost exclusively to low-priced models.

There is enough Christmas cheer in the record to hearten all but the most exacting. Whether the American gains have been due to flight from the depreciated dollar into goods, to spending by the federal government and to other temporary benefits of a policy of inflation, or will continue because of the world betterment, is for the future to determine.—Chicago Daily News.

PLEASURES VS. GOLDEN RULE

Yes, it is unfortunate if you and your life partner do not enjoy the same sort of amusement and recreation, but this should not give you license to spend most of your time at leisure engaged in the sport you favor.

You should have chosen a partner with similar tastes and desires or be willing and cheerful over a fifty-fifty arrangement.

It is unfair to resolve that nothing shall interfere with the hours you choose to spend in your particular sport.

It is not a square deal to insist that your partner adopt your plans and favorite ways of spending time.

How would you like to conform entirely to your partner's tastes? Too often young married folk are selfish that way.

If they are not willing to give and take equally there are rifts.

The happy combination is that in which each finding that the other cannot relish to the same extent certain lines of sport or amusement enjoyed by himself, follows the Golden rule cheerfully and does as he or she would be done by.

This solves many of the disturbing situations that arise.

An unselfish, sympathetic attitude adopted by both make a compromise easy and brings a harmonious balance in the family life.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

AIN'T IT DE TRUF

A Proof Reader on the Knoxville (Iowa) Express tells of his troubles in verse. He writes:

The typographical error is a slippery thing and sly,
You can hunt till you are dizzy, but it somehow will get by.

Till the ink on the presses, it is strange how still it keeps;
It shrinks down into a corner, and it never stirs or peeps.

That typographical error, too small for human eyes,
Till the ink is on the paper, when it grows to mountain size.

The boss, he stares with horror, then he grabs his hair and groans;
The copy reader drops his head upon his hands and moans.

The remainder of the issue may be clean as clean can be,
But that typographical error is the only thing you see.

WRAPPING TIME

It's a busy time at our house with the merry Christmas Day. Swinging just around the corner and not quite a week away.

There's the sound of snipping scissors and a whispering overhead.

And I know they're busy wrapping little gifts in paper red.

The house is full of mystery and magic high and low.

And they're plainly up to something which they don't want me to know.

There's a hustle and a bustle and a scampering of feet.

Every time I cross the doorway someone hastens to retreat.

There's a whispering at the table which I'm not supposed to hear.

And they wink at one another every time that I draw near.

There's an air of great excitement, so I think it safe to say.

Something nice is going to happen when I wake on Christmas Day.

They wisely look me over, up and down from head to toe.

So I've gathered the suspicion this old tie is coming to go.

Though I wouldn't dare to say it lest their feelings should be hurt.

I've the notion Christmas morning I shall get another shirt.

Oh, I like the Christmas season, like to hear the church bells chime.

Best of all I like the secrets of the busy wrapping time.

A LETTER FROM JOE BULGER, Birmingham Office Of Joe Bulger, December 15, 1933.

Fred L. Rentz, News Company, New Castle, Pennsylvania.

As regards where is mentioned in one of the grate family newspapers of your fair city that Louie Round has practically retired himself from the Pennsylvania Power Company and has got himself elected as administrator of the free government money which is being shoveled out by the C. W. A. I all got to say is that Louie has my permission to throw democratic money around a whole lot more promiscuously than would be the case if the same was honest old goodness republican money.

Of course I wouldn't say that down here because here I am a democrat but in Pennsylvania they are my sentiments.

Anyhow I would have wrote you sooner as regards this matter except I have been very busy doing some experiments in my garage as regards combining juniper leaves with horseradish and other herbs under certain high temperatures which has to be done quiet here on account the food and drugs act is still in existence in this part of the country.

Anyhow I had to write this letter today on account when I come in my office this morning my secretary says aint it about time Mr. Bulger you was writing to Fred Rentz about something or other and of course I right away done so.

You ought to see my secretary Fred she has brown hair but as regards her eyes Fred you know me I ain't yet got to the point where I could look in a girls eyes like you do in your old age.

Anyways as regards where Louie is doing this C. W. It is even worse than running for some political job where everybody wants to tell you how to do everything which ought to be done some different way and it is just like in politics whereas my old friend Willie Shakespeare used to say the wicked flea when no man pursueth the office seeker abideth with us forever.

Also as regards where free government money is being spent by Louie in a more lavish manner than if it was his own money or mine especially mine I been surprised in reading some of the local papers of large circulation which I see from New Castle that Louie has not been spending any of this money on improving the practically free municipal golf course.

The last thing I said to Louie when I came away from your fair city was if you ever get your hands on any loose government money Louie the first thing to do is to take down the stone wall on the left hand side of number seven fairway and clean up all of the rough on the wrong side of that wall. The wrong side of that wall is where I always got to off number seven tee. If this wall was knocked down and taken away from that place all of the same stones together with forty or fifty car loads more stones around the course which I could tell Louie about could be used to good advan-

Success Of Treasury Notes Viewed As Reply To Critics

Oversubscription Of Three Times Total Desired Interpreted As Evidence Of Complete Confidence In Credit Of Government

Unimpaired public confidence in the credit of the government is seen in the oversubscription by three times of the recent offering of nearly a billion dollars worth of Treasury notes.

The prompt response was hardly anticipated, says the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN, which believes that it "will help the Administration mightily." That paper advises that it is "a certificate of confidence that should be good in reassuring the banking and business mind of the country." The ATLANTA JOURNAL says: "This ringing endorsement in the Government's program is highly significant in that it came at the crest of a concerted drive by enemies of the Administration to weaken public confidence. Reactionaries and radicals alike distrust the President, but the common sense and work-a-day patriotism of America support him."

"The good old ship of state, America, sails on and on and on!" exclaims the PORTLAND OREGON JOURNAL, declaring that "the Jeremiahs are discredited," while the ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION is convinced that the event shows that "criticism of the Administration's monetary policy has not sapped the confidence of investors or interfered with the Government's financing." Other papers which find evidence of renewed confidence are the CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR, the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR and the DALLAS NEWS.

The FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM offers the verdict: "There are 75,000,000 Americans who are not afraid of 'lost confidence' either in money or the program of President Roosevelt. With the next Government bond issue is proffered it will be over-subscribed, also. Government bonds, purchasable and payable in 'legal tender' currency, on or off the gold standard, will be grabbed eagerly as offered long after the pessimists have dried up."

"Nobody in this country has reached the point of selling America short," avers the ABILENE REPORTER, while the LIMA, O., NEWS endorses the statement from the Treasury that the credit is "as strong as the rock of Gibraltar," and the SCRANTON TIMES observes: "A growing conviction that the President is pursuing the proper course in launching his monetary program." The HARTFORD TIMES states that "sound refinancing should, of itself, enhance credit."

The HOUSTON CHRONICLE makes the comment: "The financing for a very short time, of course, and therefore is not a test of long-term credit conditions. Nor for that matter can the purchase of any government bonds, since they are so readily transferable, be considered a true test of long-time investment sentiment. Nevertheless the response to this offering of the government is very reassuring. It is a remarkable demonstration of confidence, and since confidence breeds confidence, we may hope that it will have a far-reaching effect in creating that essential psychological commodity which is so greatly needed to bolster all activity in the country at this time."

"It indicates that there is plenty of money in the country awaiting investment," in the opinion of the

MORGANTOWN DOMINION-NEWS, while the PROVIDENCE JOURNAL says: "The stagnant condition of the new securities market affords the Government today, as it has for a considerable period in the past, almost a non-competitive status in seeking funds from investors." The NEWARK EVENING NEWS offers the facts: "The call loan market and the Stock Exchange reacted favorably. These are indications of the country's confidence in its government's securities. With this response opportunity for the inflationists to bring pressure on the government is lessened."

"For the time being, certainly," thinks the SPRINGFIELD UNION, "this financing is some assurance of the President's purpose not only to avoid the use of the extreme inflationary measures already authorized by Congress but possibly to resist all efforts of the coming session of Congress to demand the payment of Government obligations in greenbacks. It may also indicate a purpose to seek a basis for the stabilization of the dollar at some figure within a short time."

"The time will come," suggests the GARY POST-TRIBUNE, "when this short-term paper of the government must be refunded into long term bonds but it is a good guess the dollar will have been revalued or stabilized by them. Immediately that is done the government will be able to get all of the money it requires through bond sales." The ASBURY PARK EVENING PRESS concludes: "The President has chosen neither of the extremist courses. His policy is a common-sense middle ground that can be trod without fear of hazards and which is markedly improving business. In the light of facts already obvious his critics on both sides of the fence look ridiculous. He is stalling the wild inflationists by raising a vast, without dangerous expansion of the currency. And the gold standard fanatics have ridiculed themselves by grasping government credit at a time when they were shouting that the president had wrecked it."

Reports that the banks were largely represented in this financing are presented by the CHARLESTON EVENING POST, the WALL STREET JOURNAL, the BALTIMORE EVENING SUN and the GOSHEN DAILY NEWS-TIMES.

Reed-Pinchot May Fight Out Money Question

WILL WANT HANDS

By G. EVERETT DOYING

HARRISBURG, Dec. 19.—Sound money and the NRA appear rather definitely slated to be two of the campaign battlegrounds in the prospective race between United States Senator David A. Reed and Gov. Gifford Pinchot for the Republican nomination to the senate next May. It is still a far cry to next spring and much water will run under the mill before then, but Reed already has fired the opening gun and has chosen his own weapons. In the opinion of many political observers on Capitol Hill.

Neither Reed nor Governor Pinchot have announced their candidacies but the senator said he thought it "highly probable that I will." Governor Pinchot has shown no desire to oppose the oft-repeated characterization of himself as a candidate.

Reed's statement was made simultaneously with a denunciation of the NRA and a demand for a sound dollar, a "political coincidence" which has been labelled as the opening of the campaign in an unofficial way. He is busy repeating this stand throughout the state, speaking as often as he can and in as many places.

Governor Pinchot would appear disposed to accept Reed's challenge insofar as it pertains to NRA. He is busy trying to put his recovery recommendations through the special session of the legislature, a program which merely changes Pennsylvania laws to bring the state in line with provisions of the NRA. On the sound money question, however, the governor has made no commitments. He has had no particular occasion to do so, being busy with the legislature in Harrisburg where no question of sound money could materialize.

The Republican gubernatorial race also crops up in Reed's statement that it is "probable I will run." He said at the same time he had "some pretty definite ideas" about the governorship but declined to discuss them.

If Governor Pinchot and Reed oppose each other for the senatorial nomination, each unquestionably will have a gubernatorial candidate in the field. Discussion of names has been unharnessed with many "home town" sons being mentioned.

A vast number of hats have been unofficially tossed into the Republican ring but so far no united effort has been openly made to push any particular person. With adjournment of the extraordinary session of the General Assembly approaching, it is likely thoughts will swing to the May primaries. Then much of the existing doubt will be swept aside.

The Democrats, convinced 1934 offers them their best chance to grab the gubernatorial chair, also are silent on their choice.

ELIMSPORT, Pa., Dec. 17.—After much planning and waiting we have at last received our allotted replacements. Scheduled to arrive here a month ago these recruits moved directly from Fort Meade, Md., with their homes in Fayette County. Numbering some forty strong they appeared on the grounds before day break and joined the ranks with the veterans, of seven months service, to carry on a much neglected work.

When speaking of the arrival of this group I immediately think, or any way I remember the cold rainy day when we came to this timberland. Instead of a well organized camp we found a vast wilderness without the slightest signs of habitation; where we had to cut down trees, clear away brush and pitch our tents, to the steady rhythmic beat of rain down our neck, before we could retire for a much delayed rest. Instead of having our food served in a heated dining room we dined in the small clearing, that we were able to make before the belated lunch period and for a wash room we sought a cold mountain stream to test its cleansing qualities. All these were quite disconcerting but never-the-less we are glad we experienced this phase of life in the raw.

Religious services are conducted each Sunday afternoon in the spacious dining room with the various denominations in charge. The men welcome this act of benevolence and turn out in large numbers.

Arrangements are being completed that will provide transportation for those who go home for the holiday period. These merry-makers will arrive in town on Friday, December the twenty-second.

Mrs. Mary Conti, court interpreter for the Italian language is rounding out her 32nd year in that capacity. She was originally appointed by the late Judge William D. Wallace. She served through the late Judge William D. Porter's term, through the late Judge S. P. Emmert's term, and so far in the term of Judge R. L. Hildebrand. During her term she has officiated in many important cases, performing her duties in a manner entirely satisfactory to all concerned. She enjoys the confidence of judges and attorneys alike and has fine command of both the Italian and English languages.

To secure a marriage license a young man and a young woman must each be twenty years old, or must be accompanied by a parent who can give consent. Even if a young man or woman are within a few days of being 21, the license will not be issued. A case in point occurred recently when a couple from Akron, O., came to be married. The young man was 21 but the young lady lacked three or four days of the required age, and the license could not be issued. The couple had to go back to Akron and bring one of the parents of the girl.
Would the county save money by having a permanent assistant district attorney, instead of having one appointed at each quarter session term of court: was a question being discussed by a group of attorneys in the law library yesterday.
Under the present system the district attorney names an assistant for each term of quarter sessions court and the court appoints him. He is paid only for the time served at the rate of $25 a day.
Those favoring a permanent assistant district attorney claim that he could be of service to the district attorney in attending hearings before aldermen, and in preventing trivial cases from getting into court. The assistant would know, after hearing the evidence, whether or not the cause ought to go to court and could make a recommendation to the alderman accordingly.

By allowing an alderman to settle or sentence in trivial cases, considerable costs could be saved the county. One case tried during the present term of court resulted in a verdict of not guilty with a equal division of the costs between the prosecutor and the defendant. The total costs including court, were around $300. It is claimed that this case could no doubt have been disposed of by the alderman, had the district attorney been at the hearing.
In this connection it may be said that it is impossible for the district attorney to be at all hearings. Often there are several at the same time. One day recently there were four cases, each before a different alderman, and fixed for the same time.

Those opposed to a permanent assistant district attorney say that there would be no assurance that he would be at the hearings, and that the cases can be thrown out by the grand jury if they do not possess merit.
At any rate it is generally conceded that there are a lot of trivial cases get into court that ought to be disposed of by aldermen.

PERFECT GIFTS - CAMELS AND PRINCE ALBERT -IN GAY XMAS PACKAGES

CAMELS... made from finer, more expensive tobaccos

Recognized everywhere as being made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand, Camels naturally suggest themselves as the gift for any smoker. Camels never get on the nerves or tire the taste. The smoker to whom you give Camels will appreciate the mildness and satisfying flavor of those costlier tobaccos. So to give pleasure, give Camels—now on display in gay Christmas packages.

PRINCE ALBERT THE NATIONAL JOY SMOKE

Among men who smoke pipes or "roll their own," Prince Albert smoking tobacco is known as "the national joy smoke." A special process takes out every hint of harshness or "bite"—leaves P. A. cool, slow-burning and mellow. No wonder that more men smoke Prince Albert than any other brand. The one-pound glass humidors and one-pound tins are suitably packaged for the Christmas season.

When Your Cough
Hangs On, Mix
This at Home
Saves Good Money! No Cooking!

If you want the best cough remedy that money can buy, mix it at home. It costs very little, yet it's the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. To make syrup, use 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all, and gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money—a real family supply. Keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, clears the air passages, and thus ends a severe cough in a hurry.

Pinex is a compound of Norway Pine, in concentrated form, the most reliable healing agent for severe coughs. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 19.—Passed by the house without a dissenting vote, a resolution today called upon the liquor control board and the department of public instruction to eliminate education requirements for liquor truck drivers.

The resolution, introduced by Rep. Clarence Ederer, Montgomery, urged both the board and instruction department to substitute questions pertaining to truck operation and road safety for those submitted to truck driver applicants last Saturday.

The resolution is purely an expression of the sentiment of members and has no legal status.

General Assembly In Peculiar Role On Child Labor

Amendment Is Ratified In Two Separate Resolutions
And Action Is Ineffective

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 19.—Pennsylvania's general assembly found itself in a peculiar predicament today over the ratification of the child labor amendment to the United States Constitution.

Both the house and senate have passed separate joint resolutions ratifying the amendment but few entertain hope for the final passage of either.

The house gave its approval to the amendment by passing the Craig resolution which came to rest in the senate judiciary committee where its death is virtually assured. The senate, after stubborn opposition from Republican organization members, passed the Salus bill but saw hopes for its success glimmer when it was referred to the house constitutional amendments committee.

Thus each house has ratified the amendment but the necessary approval of one resolution by both bodies appears hopeless at the special session.

Says Liquor Violators Can Be Prosecuted

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Dec. 19.—The informal opinion given Saturday by Federal Judge Arthur J. Tuttle that there was no statute under which to prosecute liquor violators was contradicted today by an informal opinion of Gregory H. Frederick, U. S. district attorney.

Frederick pointed out that an amended act to the revenue law in 1921 was upheld two years later by the U. S. supreme court. He has requested a formal opinion from the United States attorney general's office.

Upon the formal decision depends prosecution of 100 liquor cases in this district.

Ministers Hear Liverpool Divine

Dr. B. H. Shadduck Presents "Heroes Of Unbelief" At Monday Morning Session

The principal speaker at the meeting of the ministerial association meeting Monday morning was Dr. B. H. Shadduck of East Liverpool, Ohio. His subject was "Heroes of Unbelief" which was used in irony as the speaker himself is a staunch believer. Through his discourse there was a fine vein of humor and underneath it there was a serious purpose.

"Protestantism," said the speaker, "is split into two hopelessly opposite camps. They are mutually irreconcilable. Sooner will heaven and hell be in collusion than these creeds merge."

"Either Fundamentalism or Modernism ought to die," he said. "One of two statements is true. First: The modernists are the noblest band of heroes who ever walked the earth, in that they have attempted to do what no group of heroes ever before dared to do; that is, rescue their God from the superstition of tribal conceit and scandal that the fundamentalists have had Him wrapped in since the race began. They have taken the God who was disgraced by the race and have stories and have gone far in making Him fit to go in decent society."

"Second: They have betrayed the Church of Christ into the hands of agnosticism. They have snuffed out the only light that millions of children have to guide them in the starless night that closes in on a doom-laden world. In doing this they have embezzled the funds of dead saints left in their hands for the saving of youth."

The speaker left no doubt that it was his conviction that the latter statement was the true statement of the case.

Before Dr. Shadduck arrived Dr. McClure presented a paper on "The Virgin Birth of Christ" which was accepted with enthusiasm.

There will be no meeting of the association on Christmas nor on New Year's Day.

Weekly Health Talk

"The comforts of the present day home in winter time are exceedingly alluring to many. Snug in an over-cushioned chair, with the indoor temperature hovering around 74 degrees, thousands of persons imagine they have the drop on Old Jack Frost when in reality that old fellow has the drop on them. Victims of the "softie" attitude, this type of person pampers himself and thus snubs the great gifts that winter can bestow." Dr. Theodore B. Appel, State Secretary of Health, "While our forefathers were victims of diseases, the cause and cure of which were in many instances yet unknown, they most certainly were not luxury devotees. In the pioneer days there was no luxury living. Consequently, by necessity, they were on a decidedly more friendly basis with cold weather and in fact all kinds of weather. They profited thereby. They were indeed a hardy group, and a lesson can be learned by their experience. "The crisp, even bitter tang of winter wind's contain a wealth of health for those who are willing to step up and take it. In fact, the long walk on a cold day if regularly indulged in after office hours or after the matinee bridge game, will build health and 'red blood' in a way quite impossible when tonics and a super-heated room are relied upon for this accomplishment. "The flush of youth, and incidentally the vibrancy associated with that glorious period of life, will in many instances be recaptured by the thousands who now, like bears, are hibernating in their luxury caves, if they will step up to Old Man Winter, make him a daily friend, and take in terms of health and vigor what he will gladly bestow. "Why not give winter a break? Step up to it and out into it. Leave the 'cream puff', fire-hugging and debilitating luxury habits at least for an hour or more each day and meet winter face to face. There is a lot of health in this suggestion."

More Home Loans Are Completed

More speed is being shown in the closing of Home Loans according to Attorney Wilbur J. Baer, counsel for the Home Loan Corporation here. Already fourteen have been closed and three more are ready for closing, making seventeen in all, a splendid showing for this county compared to the figures of counties much larger.

Within a short time it is planned to set aside three days each week for home loan applications and the other three days for investigation and other detail necessary. Since the inauguration of the plan here Mr. Baer's office has been crowded daily with applicants.

JUDGMENT REVERSED BY SUPERIOR COURT IN SEATING DISPUTE

In the case of the American Seating Company against Murdoch and Patterson, the superior court has handed down a decision reversing the lower court and directing that judgement be entered for the defendant.

At the sale Murdoch and Patterson bought the seats. The American Company sued and secured a verdict. Judge James A. Chambers cut the verdict to $1,927.12. Defendants carried the case up and won. They will not have the verdict to pay, under the decision.

SAYS COURT HOUSE AND VIADUCT WILL NOT RAISE TAXES

Tax Justice League and similar bodies recently, and have nothing against such organizations. I believe they can serve a good end. Taxpayers should analyze the auditors reports and see where their tax money goes.

Critics Cite Taxes.
"Much of the opposition to the court house comes from the rural district, but there is also some which comes from the citizens of New Castle, particularly against the high level viaduct."

"If analyzed, this criticism will be found to be based on the principle that it will increase taxes. It is my purpose to show you by the actual figures, that unless some unforeseen emergency arises which we know nothing about at the present time, the court house and viaduct can be constructed without increasing the levy as it is today."

Mr. Lockhart then went on to show how the need for a court house had developed many years ago, and how 23 grand juries had recommended this improvement since 1917. Prior to that time, an addition had been planned, but was rejected, because it was felt it would not fill the bill like a new court house would and would be a waste of money.

"These grand juries were selected from all walks of life and every section of the county, and we would have the right to conclude that they represented the opinion prevalent throughout the county," he stated.

Roads Sidelined Court House.
"About the time the idea of the new court house was first broached, agitation began for the improvement of public highways," Mr. Lockhart continued. "The people were demanding good roads. San Evey, George Weingartner and Ted Shields were elected county commissioners on the strength of this demand."

"A comprehensive road program was worked out, and because of the demand for roads, the court house was placed in the background, and has lain dormant ever since."

"I would not for one minute want to reflect on my good friends from the county. I was born on a farm and appreciate the conditions which have faced them during the last 15 years."

"The fact, however, that out of $1,829,000 worth of bonds issued, all but between two and three hundred thousand of dollars was spent for the construction of roads in this county. The rest was spent on the Gardner avenue viaduct. To this sum could be added several hundred thousand dollars worth of bonds which were issued within the borrowing limit of the county, without submitting the matter to a vote. In all, around $2,000,000 has been spent on roads."

"Every one of these roads built by the county has now been taken over by the state. These roads were built for the relief of the rural districts. We wanted them as much as they, because we were interested in their welfare. These roads, taken over by the state, have relieved the township tremendously. Under a new act, which goes into effect the first of the year, the remainder of the township roads will be taken over for a period of two years, relieving them of further obligation. Court House Needed."

"In all this time, we forgot about, the court house. Anyone who knows of conditions at the court house, knows that valuable records are stored in the basement and the wooden cupola, and that the offices are crowded.

"They will agree that a new court house is needed and has been needed for more than 15 years. Yet today, we have 250 miles of improved public highways in the county. If we want streets improved in the city, the shutting property must pay the cost for it, for it is assessed against it."

"The first bond issue was used to construct the Ellwood City-Chewton road. It was later taken over by the state. The sum of $829,000 in bonds was issued within the constitutional limitation of the county. We then voted and passed a million dollar bond issue for roads and bridges. These bonds were issued in serial form, and there were five different issues. We paid out so much on the principal each year and so much on the interest."

Bond Debt To Drop.
"To date, we have redeemed $829,000 worth of these bonds, and there are $838,000 outstanding. In 1936, two will be fully paid for, and in 1938, another will be fully paid."

"The complete figures on our debt service and method of reduction, are as follows: for debt service, which includes the principal, interest, and state tax, we will pay out in 1934, the sum of $172,103.60. In 1935, it will be $176,731.00; in 1936, $187,623.03; in 1937, $192,783.59; in 1938, $191,828.79; in 1939, $62,650.18 and on down, until all are paid for by 1951."

"Let us assume that we borrow for the court house and high level viaduct, the sum of $1,000,000. We could make these serial bonds, the same as we have issued in the past, and with the interest rate charged by the government at 4 per cent, it would amount to $50,000 on the principal and $40,000 on the interest, or a payment of $90,000 for the first year."

"If we borrow this in 1934, under the plan of the Industrial Control Act, we get 30 per cent of the money borrowed as an outright gift. This can be applied, under the funding plan, as payment on the interest and principal for a period of four years and it will pay it. We need not raise any money by taxation for four years, to repay this."

Due In 1938

"The first money would fall due then, in 1938, when the present debt service will have fallen from the peak of $176,000 in 1935, to $91,000. We are carrying an talking care with the present tax levy, the high point of $176,000 and we could carry this additional million without increasing the county tax over what it is now, unless something unforeseen occurs which we do not anticipate."

"At the present time, there remains only $278,000 of the authorized issue under the constitutional limitation bonds. The other $562,000 is a voted bond issue, and also includes the poor district indebtedness, which I had neglected to mention before, used in paying off the cost of the county home. If this were deducted, it would make the debt service less as it is paid out of the poor funds."

"I am not here defending the county commissioners on their policies. It is clear to me that the people have not had the facts given them. And the talk which has been going the rounds against these projects leads one to the conclusion that many of the statements which have been made, would not have been said if the people knew the facts."

It has been said in unfairness to the county commissioners that they have not given this project full consideration. For the past six months they have been giving it very serious consideration, and they couldn't make any plans without the sanction of the two judges, with whom they have had many conferences.

May Lose Poor Aid
"If the county does not cooperate with the government under the Federal Recovery Act and give employment to the unemployed, the Federal government might withdraw their assistance. This statement was brought back from Harrisburg by Dr. G. S. Bennett and others. Unless the different counties get busy and give employment, the Federal government may cut off the aid which it has been supplying to care for the unemployed. In Lawrence county, this has amounted to $22,000 per month. It wouldn't take many months until we could make up the cost of a court house."

"This one project alone would employ 178 men for period of twelve months directly, and indirectly, would cause employment for double that number in preparing the materials."

"The question at issue, however, is that we can go ahead with our plans for making these improvements and apply the absolute grant in payment of the bonds for a period of 4 years, after which our present debt will be reduced so that we can take care of the new debt without any greater tax levy."

At the conclusion of his address, Mr. Lockhart was asked a number of questions.

Rents Approves
Fred L. Rents stated that he could see no reason why anyone could say anything against the arrangement. Every grand jury recommended a court house for many years. They went over the court house while they were there. Now many of these same people are opposing it. He said it was a great inconvenience to women when called on a mixed jury to have to put up with conditions as they exist at the present time. He said he believed that one could go to law and make the county provide proper accommodations.

"I am not against spending money for improvements. If they help make conditions better in our community," Mr. Rents concluded.

The question of the amount of rental which the county was expending for offices outside the court house was raised by C. H. Andrews. Mr. Lockhart replied that it was around $2,400 a year.
Mr. Lockhart stated in reply to the question of the bonded indebtedness of other counties, that Mercer county's debt was around two million dollars. Butler county the same and Beaver county, between four and five millions. He said that he believed no other county was as fortunately situated as Lawrence county in regard to the amount of their outstanding bonds.

No Report Yet On Results Of Liquor Exam

No word has been received here yet on the results of the examinations for liquor stores and it is doubtful if any announcement will be received here until the Department of Public Instruction makes known the results.

The results of the examinations will not be sent to me," said Dr. C. C. Green today. Dr. Green was the administrator for the Department of Public Instruction and had charge of the giving of the examinations. "We had nothing to do with the making of the examinations and when we sent the papers in to the University of Pittsburgh our job was finished."

There has been a great deal of misinformation abroad in the past few days concerning the compensation paid the people who gave the examinations. The compensation was as follows: Administrator $15; Assistant Administrator $12; Proctors, $8; Assistant Proctors $4; Guards and Clerks $4; Guides $3. These amounts covered everything. Any expense entailed by the Administrator was borne by himself. The law set down what amounts to be paid and the department will pay just those amounts and no more.

Family Row Is Aired In Court

Conflicting Stories Of Trouble
Between Douds And Alles
Families

The case of August E. Alles, charged with aggravated assault and battery on David Douds, is on trial before Judge R. L. Hildebrand at county court today. The trouble resulted from a family quarrel.

Douds and his family, and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bessell, the latter a daughter of Alles, live in a two family house on East Washington street. Alles lives across a driveway.

On the evening of November 1, Harold Black and another daughter of Alles, were visiting at the home of the Bessells. Just after they left it is claimed that Mrs. Bessell and Mrs. Douds became involved in an argument on the front porch of their home. Mr. Douds, it is alleged, also became involved, and during the argument Mrs. Bessell claims that Douds had a screwdriver in his hands.

Mrs. Bessell screamed for her father, Mr. Alles. He was in bed, but got out and rushed over to the Douds porch. He and Douds became involved, and Alles claims that Douds drew back as though to strike him with the screwdriver. Alles struck Douds and put him in the New Castle hospital from a blow on the head, after blows had been exchanged by both.

Douds denies that he was intending to strike Alles with the screwdriver, witnesses comprising the Douds and Alles families and Black, who was calling on Miss Alles are the principal witnesses.

It seems that there had been some previous ill feeling between the families.

Mt. Jackson Legion Auxiliary

Dear Auxiliary Members and Friends—I am so happy to greet each one of you at this Christmas season of the year. To me Christmas with its "Peace on earth, goodwill to men," expresses a boundless joy for the privilege of being able to give happiness to others.

The longest Christmas shopping list in the world has been made out by the American Legion Auxiliary. This list includes more than 100,000 individuals whom the Auxiliary will remember on Christmas day. Disabled World War veterans who will be forced to spend Christmas in hospitals and their needy families at home make up the entire list.

This work will be divided among the Auxiliary's fifty-two departments. Pennsylvania will give a gift to each hospitalized veteran in their state and each Pennsylvania man in the Perry Point hospital. To those needing the same the gift will be a woolen coat sweater, for others the gift will be according to their needs. Each gift will be accompanied by a Christmas greeting from the Auxiliary and where-ever possible will be presented by an Auxiliary member.

Isn't this a wonderful Christmas program. And we have a part in it. We as a unit sent money to help the department with the sweater coats. We are packing boxes for our individual orphan children and are sending second hand toys to Scotland school for veterans' orphans. To our veterans in the Aspinwall hospital we are sending home made candies.

We can never repay these boys for what they did for us but it is wonderful to be able to bring them a small measure of joy. And won't each one of you my friends remember that you have a share in this and be ready to do your part. Don't forget your dollar membership fee for without this we can not succeed.

Will each of you please accept my sincere greetings: One more Yuletide, as it greets us. With its gladness, and its cheer. Brings for you the old time wishes. Merry Christmas, Happy New Year.

HELEN KENNY
Unit President.

SOCIETY

CHRISTMAS PARTY IS ENJOYED BY B. P. W. C.

Dinner and a Christmas party was enjoyed by a crowd of members of the New Castle Business and Professional Women's Club on Monday evening in a gaily bedecked room of the Y. W. C. A.

A musical Christmas tree that kept playing away merrily through out the evening, was a part of the clever arrangements and decorations lending a pleasant Yuletide appearance to the assembly place.

Carols were sung by the club throughout the earlier part of the evening. Later a lovely duet was rendered by Misses Mary Harvard and Maud Mitchell.

Guests of the occasion were three of the children who have been wards of the club clinic fund. Two of the youngsters contributed to the fine program, Frank Johnston with a song and Percy Cummings with a poem. Both song and poem were especially composed for the occasion.

The emblem committee presented a comical skit which involved somewhat of an optical illusion, and many laughs. The emblem committee was also responsible for a playlet illustrating the meaning of the club emblem.

An executive board meeting followed, taking the place of the meeting that would ordinarily take place on December 25.

The next regular meeting will be on January 8 and will be in charge of the research committee. The committee plans to have a roll call to which the members will answer with their reason for entering their particular business or profession. The committee expects to have Dr. Alden G. Alley present as a special speaker for this occasion.

DEPUTY IS FETED AT EVENING DINNER

Most delightful was the surprise dinner party given Monday evening in the dining hall of the Odd Fellows building in honor of Mrs. Marie Roof, district deputy president of Lawrence county Rachel Rebekahs, when the members of the installing staff and their husbands, assembled for the event.

A holiday air of festivity was created by the elaborate Yuletide decorations. A delicious dinner was served, with pep singing interspersed with the courses, Richard Hill leading the songs.

Mrs. Roof was given a lovely gift from the staff, Mrs. Lucy Pettitt, making the presentation speech, to which Mrs. Roof responded most graciously.

Mr. and Mrs. William Richardson, vice grand, Mrs. Kate Stanley and daughter Edith were special guests. The evening hours were most informally spent in games and music.

Fullerton on the Knox Valley road and enjoyed the usual monthly dinner party of the club. The committee in charge served a delicious menu and following, the usual business routine was in progress with the president, Mrs. J. N. Fullerton, in charge.

Officers for the term of 1934 were elected as follows: President Mrs. Dale Andrews; first vice, George Clark; second vice, Merle Leale; secretary, Miss Frances Fullerton; treasurer, John Miller; corresponding secretary, Miss Jean Brewster; executive committee member, Mrs. John V. Brewster.

The next meeting will be held in January, the date to be announced.

Little Folks Guests.
The home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle C. Hughes, Sheridan avenue, was the scene of a merry gathering Saturday afternoon when their small daughter Dorothy received six of her little friends at a pre-holiday party. Juvenile diversions occupied the play period after which the guests remained for dinner. The menu was suggested by the little hostess herself and was most suitable to the age of the participants.

Those attending were Mary Walsh, Phyllis Speck, Barbara Ann Gibson, Bud Shields, Ned Vidal, Billy Shalee and the hostess.

The mothers were invited too, and enjoyed a session of cards.

Newlyweds Honored.
Mrs. S. S. Patterson of East Brook entertained at a shower in her home on the eve of December 16 honoring Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Billig, a bride and groom of recent date. Mrs. Irene Hill of North Mulberry street entertained the J. O. S. club members Monday evening in her home at a beautifully appointed 7 o'clock tureen dinner. The Christmas spirit prevailed and unique favors and place cards marked each guest's place.

A treasure hunt resulted in each finding their Christmas gift hidden about the house. Music, chat and games filled in the balance of the evening. In the "beano" contest, Mrs. Mae Alken, Kathryn McCreary, Mrs. Rose Magee and Mrs. Marian Lackey were winners of the prizes.

Miss Lilly Bell Hill was a special guest of the club.

Their next meeting will occur at the residence of Dorothy Kinney on Croton avenue, the date to be announced.

Mrs. G. R. Webber, Wallace avenue, with Mrs. F. J. Rawle as associate hostess, received the members of the Victory Bible class of the St. John's Lutheran church in her home Friday evening for the Christmas event.

Twenty-four members were present, with Mrs. Harry Cranmer and Elaine Keefer as special guests. The hours were most informal with Christmas carols and games featuring the members brought food and clothing to be used in packing Christmas baskets for the needy.

Delicious refreshments were served, with the Yuletide colors and suggestions used.

January 5 Mrs. E. R. Wolfe, Morton street, will be hostess to the group.

Entertain Club.
The Misses Helen and Cleola Cotton entertained their Dozen-And-One-F's club associates Monday evening informally at bridge and dancing. The prize for cards was won by Winifred Hickling.

Special guests were Evelyn Raney, Anna Henaly, Peg and Olive Elliott and Dorothy Fugh.

AROUND CITY HALL

It appears very much as though city council will appropriate moneys again for playground purposes for 1934—and unlike 1933, use some of the money. One thousand five hundred dollars was appropriated for 1933. None of the money was used for that purpose, instead some of it has been reappropriated for other uses. With the CWA getting ready to construct playgrounds in Dean park and perhaps in other sections it appears as though someone will have to look after the "kiddies". When the tennis courts were built, to prevent "freezing out" persons who wanted to use the courts, it was found necessary several years ago to place persons in charge of them. When the mushball and baseball fields are built at Dean park someone will have to be in charge of the schedule of events. The athletic fields will have to be looked after and it looks as though council will have to put someone on the job next year.

There are scheduled at present only three more regular meetings of city council before two present incumbents, Genkinger and Treser, lay down their pencils and bid adieu to their city duties. However, before they depart they will have had a hand in the compilation of the 1934 appropriations, which annually proves quite a task. Genkinger and Treser both will have served four years. Phil Greer will also depart as city controller. He served a portion of the unexpired term of the late Alvah Porter, then was elected for four years.

Some time ago City Treasurer Louis McClung appointed four collectors of delinquent 1932 taxes and according to reports from the treasury they have done some good work. A considerable number of the delinquents who could pay have paid because they were told that they would have to pay or face commitment. The collectors are the result of the school board's instruction to the treasurer to collect the 1932 delinquent school tax. The collectors each receive a small, flat sum for each collection.

It cost Pa News approximately $37,000 for school teachers and employees of the city for the first two weeks of December, according to reports from the city treasurer. The school teachers received about $27,000 and the city employees about $10,000. Of the latter sum 30 per cent was paid in negotiable paper. The city employees will receive their next pay shortly after the first of 1934 but the school teachers will receive another two weeks pay before New Year's day, it is reported.

With the bugaboo of a 5 1/2 per cent penalty to be added to unpaid 1933 school taxes January 1, many persons are avoiding the penalty by paying the school taxes at face this month, it was reported at the city treasury today. There is a six per cent penalty on delinquent city taxes for 1933. The five per cent penalty on school taxes as of October was "knocked off" until January 1 when it will be made effective plus another 1/2 per cent.

Induction of councilmen-elect will occur on the morning of January 1 as Monday falls upon that date. No doubt city council chambers will be crowded with friends of the incoming officials and also those of the outgoing councilmen. The incoming members, B. F. Butler and Joe Alexander, will subscribe to the oath as read by Mayor Wayne, who by virtue of his office is the president of council. After they are inducted into office council will organize and it is then that citizens will for a certainty know which department will be headed by the various officials.

Reports from various circles say that Frank Nugent will be retained as superintendent of the municipal sewage department. Friends of Charles (Dude) O'Brien hope to see him remain as clerk in the department of streets.

Record Turnout At Meeting Of Foremen's Club

Other Plant Officials Special Guests At Regular Meeting Here Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 19.—One of the best turnouts of the year featured the monthly meeting of the Foremen's Club of the local National Tube last night in the Shelby Club house. Over 225 were present at the time.

There were a number of special guests from other plants present at the time. They were A. D. Lynch, personnel director of the Ohio Brass Company, of Mansfield, O., and past president of the National Foremen's Association, George Hitchens, General Supt. of the National Works, William Snyder, Thomas Dugan and Steve Findlater.

Mr. Lynch was the principal speaker on the occasion. His topic was "Foremen's Responsibilities." Short talks were delivered by each of the guests. Mr. Lynch's address was educational and entertaining, and was much appreciated by those present.

At its business meeting the club voted to participate in a conference of the Western Reserve Foremen's Association at Youngstown, O., on Jan. 13. They plan to send a large delegation there.

The club then enjoyed its regular recreational period with cards, bowling, pool, billiards, and shuffle board. Refreshments were also served.

American Legion Has Meeting Here

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 19.—J. Wilbur Randolph Post of the American Legion of this city held its semi-monthly meeting last night in their rooms on Sixth street with a fair attendance present.

After disposing of a few routine matters and making arrangements for some Christmas relief work, those present enjoyed a cartoon talk by W. F. Kegal of this city. A luncheon was served at a later hour by a committee. The organization will meet again on January 8.

Committee Has Made Report On State Prisons

No Blame Placed For Recent Riot At Eastern Prison; State Is Far Behind

PINCHOT PLEDGES PROPER SUPPORT

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 19.—Declaring other states had "outdistanced Pennsylvania in developing a state penological program," Gov. Gifford Pinchot's committee investigating the recent riots at Eastern penitentiary, Philadelphia, submitted a lengthy report featured by a recommendation for creation of a state department of corrections.

The committee recommended the department be headed by an official of cabinet rank with powers and functions to take over all administrative work of the state's penal system with a "mandate laid upon it to develop a program of individual treatment."

No Blame Placed.
Because of a wide variance of opinion among both prisoners and others questioned, the committee failed to reach any decision on placing of blame for recent riots at Cherry Hill prison.

In releasing the report, Governor Pinchot issued a statement characterizing the findings as a "sane, sensible, scientific statement of facts together with specific recommendations for improving and removing the condition that resulted in the recent riots."

Governor Pinchot pledged that everything "this administration can properly do to carry out these recommendations will be done, and done immediately."

Assistant Warden.
In declaring its belief that for some years to come the Cherry Hill prison essentially must be retained as a prison of maximum security, the committee recommended immediate appointment of an assistant warden "who has vision and an understanding of what social work, psychology, psychiatry and the other sciences have now to offer in the understanding of men, one who will have the courage of his convictions in fighting for the remaking of men."

The committee also recommended appointment of a committee of the board of trustees to investigate charges of brutality, another committee to investigate complaints of the prisoners' commissary, a third committee to inquire into concessions, appointment of a medical advisory committee to strengthen the medical department; creation of a prison newspaper; equality of privileges; appointment of additional psychiatrists and reduction of prison population.

Complaints Filed.
The committee found many complaints with Pennsylvania's parole system, particularly those phases which do not permit a convict to be paroled unless a job awaits him and which force him to serve his entire probationary period in prison if he violates any minor law any time during his probation.

Members of the committee were Louis N. Robinson, member of the prison board of trustees; T. Henry Walnut, Philadelphia, and Major Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of the state police.

Find Evidence That Humans Lived About 1,000,000 Years Ago

By JOHN GOETTE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PEIPING, Dec. 19.—The mystery of a chain of life from the baboon through the Peking man to modern man confronted scientists today as a result of sensational archeological discoveries in the famous caves of Choukoutien, a few miles beyond the walls of Peiping.

These caves, it is revealed, served successively as homes for the baboon, the Peking man, and a modern type of man, forerunner of the modern Chinese.

The discoveries were made by Dr. Davidson Black, noted Canadian scientist, and Dr. W. C. Pei, youthful Chinese archeologist and finder of the skulls of the now-famous Peking man. They disclosed details of life on earth more than 1,000,000 years ago.

Skulls Are Found.
In the same caves, but in layers of rock belonging to a later age, were found two almost complete but somewhat crushed skulls, other skull fragments, teeth, lower jaws, vertebrae, and leg and foot bones. These were identified as belonging to the immediate descendants of the Peking man.

Large traces of charcoal and ash showed fire was known to this early man.

Feminine vanity was not unknown then either, for necklaces were found, made of perforated fox dog teeth, along with other "jewelry" made of hematite brought from afar. The bones of birds also were used for ornaments.

Implements Found.
Some implements of the Peking man were found, but there was no evidence he was trained in making pottery or building with stones.

Evidence of the life of the later modern man was plentiful. These finds were not new, previous discoveries having shown he inhabited these caves. The new work thus links these ages, chronologically far apart, through the single Chinese caves.

Columbia Team Starting West

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports
Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—It took a long time for Columbia to heed Horace Greeley's sage advice but they finally got around to it and so today Lou Little, the coach with the durante horn and the Joe Brown smile, is heading west with 30 of his blue and white footballers.

Dr. Little and assisting surgeons will hold a clinic in the Rose Bowl to see what can be done about reducing a reported enlargement of the tracheum at Stanford.

This is a major operation, calling for the use of an anesthetic rather than a delicate lance, and may well be beyond the powers of the visiting specialists for Stanford craniums are generally considered among the toughest to be found anywhere.

Stop In St. Louis
There are several million persons in this broad land who think the old Doc is facing an impossible task but the head football surgeon of Columbia insists the odds should be no worse than 6 to 5 against him putting the Stanford patient under the anesthetic of defeat.

Doc reports all of his aides in great shape for the test.
Doc and his boys pop off today for St. Louis on a special train carrying 375 gallons of pure New York water.

They will take a mild work-out at the University of St. Louis and lay-over ones at Dallas and El Paso before landing in Tucson where they will remain a week to gather strength for the approaching ordeal on New Year's Day.

FALCON MIDGETS WIN

Saturday night on the Polish Falcon floor the Polish Falcon Midgets looked impressive as they defeated the Cyclone A. C. quintet, 32-19.
Kendra, Kozella and E. Wenda were outstanding for the winners. Dutkin was the best for the losers.

The Drys never quit. Their next step, doubtless, will be a nation-wide campaign to have Repeal repealed.

ACE BAILEY VICTIM OF ICE CLASH

Ace Bailey

As medical science battled to save the life of Irvin (Ace) Bailey, star right wing of the Toronto Maple Leafs, ice hockey followers sought an answer to the question—is the game, as now played, too brutal? Bailey suffered a five-inch skull fracture when he was checked by Eddie Shore of the Boston Bruins in a game.

Titans Face Upsala Five At Orange, N. J.

(Special To The News.)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec. 19.—
Coach John Lawther and his traveling basketball squad from Westminster play the fourth contest in five days tonight at East Orange, N. J., when Upsala college is met.

Faving played St. Thomas at Scranton, City college at New York and John Marshall at Jersey City,
The Titans now face a new opponent in the Upsala five, reputed to be the best collegiate court team in the state of New Jersey.

Taking no chances against the Upsala outfit, Lawther will not rest the regulars, but will start his strongest combination, most of whom have played through the other three contests on the trip. Douglass and Leyshock will be started at forward, Bennett at center and Hunneke and Wilhelm at guard.

The final game of the trip, with the strong St. Johns college team tomorrow night, will be played in the Freeport, L. I., high school gymnasium. Following this game, the Titans will return to New Wilmington, arriving late Thursday.

Duquesne university announced a partial football card for 1934 today that had games listed with Waynesburg, West Virginia, Ashland college, Bucknell, Haskell Indians, Indianapolis, Oklahoma A. & M. and Carnegie Tech. There are three open dates to be filled yet.

Milton was something of a prophet when he wrote: "So glistened the dire Snake, and into fraud led Eve, our credulous mother, to The Tree of Prohibition, root of all our woe."

Nation-Wide Ball To Honor Roosevelt

Birthday To Be Observed In Unique Manner—To Aid
Afflicted

President Franklin D. Roosevelt's birthday will be honored and the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation aided at the same time on January 30, when a "Birthday Ball for the President" will be held in very city throughout the United States. Notice of the plan is contained in a letter today to Fred L. Rentz, president of The News from Henry L. Doherty, national chairman of the plan.

The national committee is composed of a group of prominent citizens who want to aid the work of the Warm Springs Foundation in carrying on its fight against the ravages of infantile paralysis. President Roosevelt himself has been aided at Warm Springs and because of the wonderful work the foundation has done it has been thought that the president's birthday would be an appropriate day on which to stage the campaign for funds.

A local director is to be appointed for the ball, and it is expected that the local committee will turn over one dollar for each attendant at the ball.

On Thursday evening a turkey shoot is being planned by the Legion of Honor Consistory at its range in The Cathedral.

A similar event was held preceding Thanksgiving, which was largely attended, and a number of marksmen in the city are expected to attend the coming event.

Connie Mack Tells Inside Story About Disposing Of Stars

New Wilmington
Plays Shenango
High Tonight

Says Attendance Fell Off With Poor Seasons And Unable To Meet Wages

Wonderful Chance For Cochrane To Make Good As Manager Of Detroit

By BILL WEART
International News Service Sports
Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 19.—In trembling tones, Connie Mack, the 71-year-old leader of the Philadelphia Athletics, Monday told assembled newspapermen the inside story of the wrecking of his second great baseball club.

Connie refused to place all the blame on the much maligned Philadelphia bankers. He blamed the depression and the poor attendance of the past two years.

"We had two lean years after three years of plenty during which we paid our players tremendous salaries," said the graying leader of the A's.

Money Got Low
"They were worth and earned every dollar we gave them but because of two poor seasons when attendance fell lower than ever before, we could no longer meet such payrolls."

Connie said he informed the players they would have to suffer drastic salary cuts if they desired to remain with the Athletics.

Lefty Grove, the might fireballer who learned from Connie how to control his temper never replied.
Connie didn't admit as much but it was evidence he felt Grove should be allowed to make more money with another club.

Chance For Cochrane
"Mickey Cochrane's case was different. We left him go for $100,000 and a second string catcher, Johnny Pasek, because Mickey had a wonderful opportunity to avoid the salary cut and become the manager of a big league baseball club."

Max Bishop, Connie said, wanted to make a change. He wrote Mack that if he could not service with the Athletics he thought a change would help his playing.

Whole New Battery
George "Rube" Walberg, Browney running mate for the left handed Grove was sold to Boston because after losing Grove and Cochrane, Connie decided to scrap his battery and build anew.

"Walberg was a willing worker and should still be a great pitcher.
The change should do him good,"
Connie said.

Of George Earnshaw, the might right handed speed ball pitcher, who caused Connie a lot of trouble with his bad boy tactics, there was only good wishes from his old manager.

Earnshaw Good
"He is still a great pitcher, Connie said. "If we hadn't arranged a satisfactory trade I might have tried again to make a go with him. I'd have liked to keep George; but, he wanted to go."

Connie flicked a tear from his eye. The room was deathly silent.
His voice was scarcely audible. He concluded:

"We realize that we're going to miss Grove and Cochrane and all the rest. We've lost a lot of playing strength. But, we're still in the fight.
No other player will be traded or sold."

Appropriate battle cry for the N.
Y. A's: "The big bad wolf is afraid of me!"

Protect Your Car Against Winter Driving Hazards

It takes extra precautions in winter to insure safe operation of your car. The most important precaution is to make sure of your motor oil. If the starter itself is in good condition and there is nothing mechanically wrong with your car, you can have the same quick easy starting on the coldest winter mornings that you got in July.

Undertone Of Market Continues Nervous And Price Changes Are Small

BUSINESS REPORTS
MORE CHEERFUL

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—The stock market displayed a steadier tone today after the reaction of the last few days, but the undertone continued nervous and price changes were small.

The Atlas Tack debacle was still reflected in a hesitant tendency throughout the list and efforts to bring about a rally in the forenoon failed to get far.

Cheerful reports from business were supporting influences. The sharp rise in steel operations was followed by a substantial upturn in retail sales and improvement in railroad traffic.

This brought some buying into leading shares but no carry-through developed.

Commodities failed to provide any stimulus. Grains were mixed, silver lower and cotton slightly better. The R. F. C. gold price was unchanged, strengthening the dollar, but this was ignored as a market influence.

Traction stocks staged an early runup on the beginning of unification discussions but subsided later on, though holding their gains. Steels were aided by the rise in the industry's operations while the rails made only a short lived response to the traffic gains.

Atlas Tack quieted down after its collapse of the last 2 days and ruled around the previous close, awaiting the results of the investigations into the stocks market background.

There was some demand for motor shares, particularly Chrysler and General Motors, but only slight price changes resulted.

Oils were lower while utilities showed renewed pressure, attributed to further selling for tax loss purposes. American Telephone was somewhat steadier after its recent weakness.

Industrial leaders like American Can, DuPont and Allied Chemical moved in a narrow range. Howe Sound was an individual strong spot on payment of a 75-cent dividend. Liquor shares were easy.

'Leg Art' Under Fire of Hollywood Censors

The advertising charms of Sally Rand, Marlene Dietrich, Mae West and other movie stars—known to the unesthetic as "leg art"—are being subjected to internal censorship before they are permitted to grace billings, posters and other advertising mediums in connection with motion pictures. An advertising council has been selected by major producing companies of Hollywood to see that nothing improper in motion picture advertising is permitted. Sally, Marlene and Mae are shown above in poses which may soon have the new council pondering.

New Deal Takes Sting Out of Their Winter

Happy Scene at "Camp Tera"

C.C.C. Workers at Peekskill, N. Y.

Last year many of these boys and girls faced a hopeless winter, jobless and destitute. Now, thanks to the New Deal, they look forward to the cold months ahead without fear. The Civilian Conservation Corps is carrying on its work in winter quarters, well clothed, well fed, and the camp at Bear Mountain, sponsored by Mrs. Roosevelt for unemployed girls, resembles an American edition of St. Moritz as the girls forget their cares in an old-fashioned snowball fight. WILL FILL BASKETS
On Saturday, December 16 the scouts of Troop No. 1 met in the city hall building. They played a nature game and then went to patrol corners. Each girl will bring with her an item to help fill the Christmas basket which will be prepared at the next meeting. It is also important that every girl should attend. The meeting will be held at 7:00 next Saturday.
